York Hotel has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

 - it is a fine and rare example of Federation Anglo-Dutch architecture with its ensemble of elaborate ornamentation;
 - the building is an imposing landmark in the Hannan Street Precinct;
 - it contributes to the streetscape with its verandah as a continuation of a dominant streetscape element;
 - the hotel's opulence is representative of Kalgoorlie's prosperity, resulting from the discovery of gold; and,
 - it contributes to the community's sense of place.
