10. STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Perth Oval, consisting of an oval, a brick Inter-War Mediterranean style entry gates building at the north-west perimeter of the reserve and a salmon brick Post-War International style grandstand building, has cultural heritage significance for the following reasons:

the north-west entry gates building (c.1910) is a good example of the Inter-War Mediterranean architectural style;

the north-west entry gates building is uncommon; the main grandstand, administration and clubroom building (1956 with extensions 1966) is a meeting place for athletes and patrons;

the place as a whole is highly valued by the community for the social and cultural associations of sporting and other outdoor entertainment over the years; as the home of the East Perth Football Club, the place contributes to the local community's sense of place;

the place, with its variety of building styles, is characteristic of its class, that of home football ground for an Australian Rules Football League side; and, the place as a whole, and the north-west entry gates building in particular, characterises a way of life and activity - that of community enjoyment of Australian Rules Football.

The northern male toilet block (c.1920), the northern female toilet block (c.1930), the south-western entrance building (c.1950), the snack shop adjacent to the grandstand building (c.1960), the scoreboard (c.1960), the private residence east of Loton Park (c.1960), the south-western change rooms (c.1960), the south-western toilet block (c.1960), the eastern store (c.1970), the north and north-eastern stands (c.1970) and the south-east entrance building (c.1980) have a low degree of cultural significance.

The kiosks, caravans and shipping containers have little cultural significance.

Loton Park Tennis Club is on a separate title and is a Registered Place.
